

Inquiring Reporter

A timely Memorial Day topic, "Who, in your opinion, is the greatest American who ever lived?" was asked by the News' Inquiring Reporter. Eight persons replied as follows:

Bruce Wilson, 627 N. Lincoln Ave., salesman, Bunn Shoe Co.: "Abraham Lincoln. I think there has been more written about him than any of our earlier presidents. He stood for the rights of the individual and what he believed in when a great part of the country was against him. He'll always be remembered for the Gettysburg Address."

Wesley Houger, 958 W. Pershing St., assistant vice president, Farmers Bank: "In my opinion, there is no greatest American who ever lived. There are many Americans who have made this nation great — from the time the Pilgrims landed on our shores. I cannot classify one individual as greater than another."

Mrs. William Barrington, 550 E. 7th St., housewife: "In my opinion, I find it much too difficult singling out any one person as my greatest American. Over the years since this country was founded, we have had outstanding persons in many walks of life. There have been great presidents, generals and people in the field of medicine, to mention only a few."

Ann Milligan, 1560 Brookview Dr., ninth grade pupil, Salem Junior High School: "It's hard to say because they all lived in different times. A list should include Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Lincoln, because of his Civil Rights program and concern for the country and Washington, also for his concern for the country instead of one or two states."

Miss Margaret I. Price, 317 Washington Ave., waitress, Neon Restaurant: "I think that John F. Kennedy was one of the most important men in America because he gave the country a new spiritual light for the people, both young and old. He was perhaps 100 years ahead of all the people in America."

Nick Rini, 2120 Southeast Blvd., manager, Barnett's Motel and Restaurant: "Herbert Hoover. He was in office at the time of the depression and so many persons, Republicans and Democrats, at the time blamed him for the depression. I don't think any one person can take the blame for the condition of the country. Over the past 30 years, he has shown loyalty and intelligence as an elder statesman which has won him the respect he probably should have had at that time."

Rodney Reiter, RD 4, Albany Rd., senior, Salem High School: "Abraham Lincoln. He fought for the freedom of all men, no matter what color, race or creed. He started from scratch and worked his way up, getting his education on his own."

Mrs. Hubert Schebler, 1267 N. Ellsworth Ave., housewife: "I think that George Washington was the greatest American who ever lived. His superhuman struggle for liberty during the unstable years of the revolution molded the inspiring life of our first great America. Because of spirits like his, we now have a nation based on principles of freedom in creed, government, thought and speech."

Khrushchev Greets E. German Chief

Ulbricht's Russia Visit Stirs Speculation Of New Crisis

MOSCOW (AP) — Walter Ulbricht the East German Communist party leader, flew into Moscow Friday with honors indicating an important visit but secrecy hiding the purpose.

Some Western sources speculated that a new crisis over Berlin might be brewing.

Premier Khrushchev greeted Ulbricht with kisses and an expression of hope the two-week state visit would be fruitful, without specifying how. Ulbricht replied that he was sure his meetings here would serve to consolidate peace in Europe.

He did not explain this, but Western sources here and in Berlin speculated that some new initiative in the German problem might be made.

Although considered unlikely, the possibility was not ruled out that Ulbricht and Khrushchev might agree to sign a World War II peace treaty. The division of Germany and the problem of West Berlin has prevented action on this in the past.

From time to time in the last decade Khrushchev has moved toward a treaty with East German, only to draw back because of the crisis over Berlin that it provoked with the West. The situation has been quiet for many months now.

There was speculation also that some new version of East German proposals for making the German problem one between Bonn and East Berlin may be in the works.

Reports from Berlin said Soviet diplomats and reporters in East Berlin have been held back from leaves during Ulbricht's trip, and some "important declaration" was expected on his return home. These heightened speculation.

Nikita Implies Americans Also Use 'Sky Spies'

Suggests Halt To Observation Flights Over Cuba

PARIS (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev was quoted by a former U.S. senator Friday as saying Soviet cameras have photographed military installations from outer space and asking, apparently in jest: "Why don't we exchange such photos?"

William Benton, who talked with the Soviet leader in the Kremlin on Thursday, told newsmen the implication was clear that Khrushchev believes U.S. space authorities have the equipment to photograph Soviet and other military installations.

Benton, 64, is a publisher and government official — currently the U.S. envoy to the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which has headquarters in Paris. He was a Democratic senator from Connecticut 1949-1953. He visited the Soviet Union for 10 days as a guest of the Institute of Soviet-American Relations.

Benton said Khrushchev told him: "If you wish, I can show you photos of military installations taken from outer space. I will show them to President Johnson if he wishes."

Khrushchev did not make entirely clear whether he referred to photographs taken by Soviet spacemen on orbital flights or photos from satellites—the widely discussed spy-in-the-sky system that the Russians have said the United States is using.

Discussion of the space photographs came up while they talked about the reconnaissance flights the United States has maintained over Cuba since the Soviet missile crisis of 1962 to guard against another secret buildup of offensive missiles.

Benton said Khrushchev suggested the United States abandon these flights, saying: "Neither President Johnson nor I want another crisis over Cuba. This is the time for sober sense to reign."

The Soviet Union has backed Prime Minister Fidel Castro's demands that the overflights stop. Johnson has said the flights are necessary in the absence of on-site inspection and will continue.

In Washington, the Defense Department maintained its usual silence about the U.S. photographic satellite program.

These satellites have been photographing the earth, including the Soviet Union and its allies, for five years. The United States has dozens or scores of them orbiting the earth, snapping everything on it.

The Soviet Union had never disclosed whether or not it had similar means of snooping on the United States.

Bumper Strawberry Crop Is Forecast

A bumper strawberry crop is forecast in the Salem district this season, as the result of ideal spring weather conditions. Already the Ohio State Employment Office here is signing up pickers for the harvest which will come within the next two weeks. Youths and adults are being sought to help growers harvest an estimated 150 acres of strawberries.

Farley Sees Dems' Victory

Reviews 50 Years Of Political Life

NEW YORK (AP)—A hale and hearty James A. Farley, 76 today, relaxed in his office this week among treasured mementos of 50 years of political life—and looked happily toward the future.

He was relaxed, for one reason, because he was as optimistic about Democratic prospects this fall as he was in 1932.

That was the year he piloted Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential campaign to a landslide victory, carrying 42 states. He says President Johnson may do even better because he has substantial support from the business community.

Concerning the Republican race for the presidential nomination, Farley predicted a convention deadlock in New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller beats Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's primary Tuesday. In that case, he said, the convention might turn to Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania over former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The walls of his business office are hung with scores of autographed photographs of the greats he has known.

Showing a reporter around this week, he showed particular delight in a picture of the late President John F. Kennedy, seated at a table with an impish grin and a bottle of Coke at his right hand.

Kennedy had inscribed it: "With warmest regards from a customer." Farley said Kennedy had sent the photograph, unsolicited, and that he did not know where it was taken.

The autographed photographs are from Democrats and Republicans alike—President Johnson and former Presidents Herbert

Counterattack Red Positions

Laotian Neutrals Seize Offensive

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laotian government troops seized the initiative in minor action Friday on two sectors of the pro-Communist Pathet Laos' battle front.

Field dispatches told of strikes by neutralist and rightist units west and south of the Red-held Plaine des Jarres while diplomats wrangled abroad about site and makeup of the variously proposed conferences that might end the crisis.

Military sources said five neutralist companies, perhaps 500 to 700 men, counterattacked Communist positions overlooking a road junction in the hills 10 miles east of Muong Soui and met little resistance.

Muong Soui, 110 miles north of Vientiane, is one of the last strongholds of the neutralists near the plain, from which they were driven last week.

Their rightist allies were on the move in jungle campaigning about 75 miles southeast of Muong Soui and 100 miles northeast of Vientiane.

Right-wing troops of Maj. Gen. Kham Khong were reported encircling a Communist-held hill seven miles north of Muong Huong.

Muong Huong is a bamboo hut village of about 60 persons, abandoned by the Pathet Lao under rightist fire after they

Swim Pool Opening Here Is Delayed

The Centennial Park swimming pool will not open today. Charles F. Tomlinson director, said today that due to reconstruction of the pool, it was not ready to be filled with water until late Thursday afternoon. He said it takes about 72 hours to put in the necessary 400,000 gallons of water.

Tomlinson stated he believes the pool will be ready for use by Monday or Tuesday at the latest.

Hours of operation will be from 1 to 9 p.m. daily. Admission fees will be the same as last year, the director said. Children under 12 will be charged 20 cents, youths from 13 to 18 will pay 25 cents and adults will be charged 50 cents. On holidays and Sundays the price for everyone 18 or under will be 25 cents.

Season passes also cost the same as previous years: Children under 12, five dollars; youths 13-18, six dollars; adults, $9 and family passes $18.

Teen-Age Traffic Violators to Get Memory Work

LISBON — Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin announced today that in the future any teen-age driver brought into his court for a traffic violation will be ordered to memorize "The 10 commandments of teen-age drivers."

The commandments are being used in Cuyahoga County with good results, he said.

They are:
In consideration of the safety of myself, my passengers, my fellow motorists, and pedestrians, I will:

(1) Make certain the vehicle I drive is in excellent condition, particularly as to brakes, tires and lights.

(2) Take into consideration the roadway surface and possible traffic conflicts before starting up.

(3) Make courtesy my code of the road, yielding the right of way when in doubt.

(4) Give driving my undivided attention, using all of my senses to anticipate and avert all conflicts with other vehicles and pedestrians.

(5) Adjust my speed to conditions of traffic, weather and visibility, obeying all speed regulations which I realize are necessary for the protection of all.

(6) Never follow closer than one car length for every 10 miles per hour speed.

(7) Be especially careful at intersections and in places

Girl Is Only Student In 'Class of '64'

KELLEYS ISLAND, Ohio (AP)—The Class of '64 graduates from Kelleys Island High School tonight and it is a big event for Sharon Kleba.

Eighteen-year-old Sharon, five-two and blonde, is the Class of '64—the lone senior in the school of eight students.

But there will be no lack of ceremonies at the island school which has been educating a trickle of students since 1901. There will be music, an invocation, honors and a commencement speaker.

"It's the same for one or one hundred," explained school superintendent and teacher G. E. Kittel. "There are no short cuts in their education or their graduation."

Kelleys Island, a resort area in Lake Erie, is home to some 50 families. But unlike residents on the neighboring Bass Islands, the Kelleysites oppose flying their children to larger schools on the mainland, six miles away. They want the school.

Delivering the commencement address will be Don Wolfe, assistant managing editor of the Toledo Blade. Although a veteran of the graduation speech trail, Wolfe has "worked harder on this talk than on any I've ever made at a commencement. "I could have written her a letter, but the school is important."

Pupils Decorate Gym With Poison Ivy

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—There were some red faces—along with some blisters—among junior and senior classmates of nearby Centerburg High School Thursday.

The students, assigned to decorate the school gymnasium for the alumni banquet, showed up at the office of Dr. C. R. Barnmealin—all with the same malady.

The diagnosis was prompt—poison ivy.

Somehow the noxious weed got mixed up in the plants collected for decorating the banquet hall.

TV-Radio Today

By ALAN GILL

At first glance, the people piling into the conference room look like a group of advertising agency executives about to run an idea up to see if anyone salutes.

Alan Gill

Then they all sit down and start to play games. The conference room is located in the offices of Goodson-Todman, the game show factory which spews out television panel shows with the passion and single-mindedness of a Gabor collecting diamonds.

PRESENTLY THERE ARE seven separate G-T afternoon shows, good for 35 programs a week, plus five evening shows, for a grand total of 20 hours of television weekly. Each of these shows uses a master of ceremonies, and most of them average four panelists, which means G-T employs approximately 50 personalities a week on camera.

On the theory that the public can look at some sets of smiling teeth just so often, G-T, with What's My Line's associate producer Bob Bach in charge, has set up a series of weekly celebrity auditions to find new gamesters.

THE PEOPLE WHO audition range from opera star Blanche Thebom through Darryl Hickman, presently starring on Broadway in "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," to Robert Earle, the host of College Bowl. If the candidates seem promising they are asked back a second time. If they still seem promising, they are spotted on a G-T show.

On one particular afternoon Stanley Prager, the former actor who is now producing The Patty Duke Show, comic Mickey Freeman, Johnny Andrews, a pioneer of early television, and Anne Meara, of the comedy team of Stiller and Meara, are auditioning their game potentials.

Among those watching are Ira Skutch and Jack Farrow, who produce Missing Links and Get the Message, respectively, and Chris Carroll, who casts Password. Bob Bach is running the show.

As the would-be panelists play the games, the onlookers react as an audience would.

PASSWORD is first on the schedule. The word "shopping" comes up.

"It's a tough one, if you get it in six tries, it'll be good," Bach says. Prager gets it in two. "Let's play for a little money," he suggests.

"Agent" is the Password. "Is 10 per cent two words?" Freeman cracks.

Get the Message is next. "We didn't do well because our contestant was stupid," Prager said, when three rounds were completed. Bach, who had guessed all the messages, asks "Where's my money?"

WHAT'S MY LINE? is next. Bach picks an occupation out of a pile, saying "What'll I be?" Prager suggests "Let him be himself. I've never known what he really does." The category Bob picks is shown to the audience: "Onion Grower." The panel gets to work and quickly establishes the fact that they are looking for a vegetable.

They get bogged down when someone asks if it's a green vegetable. Bach, after consulting John Daley (he is playing that part, too), says "yes."

"Could we sit here now and comfortably eat this vegetable?" Freeman asks.

"N't me," Prager says. "I just had lunch."

The panel never guesses the occupation because they become mired in a green vegetable response. When Bach announces his "occupation," Prager jumps up.

"Onions are yellow. I know it's only a game, but would you please step outside?"

OES At Columbiana Conducts Inspection

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT
COLUMBIANA — The Columbiana Chapter, order of Eastern Star, held its annual inspection Wednesday night at the South Side School with 157 in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elder, worthy patron and matron, presided and Mrs. Virgil Edgerton of Salem, deputy grand matron of district 13 was inspecting officer.

Special guests included Mrs. Edwin Preston, past grand matron and grand trustee of the grand chapter of Ohio; Mrs. Betty George of Niles, deputy grand matron of district 2; Mrs. John Liber of Alliance, grand representative to Nebraska; Mrs. Harry Jones of Canton, trustee of the Eastern Star home, three officers of the district association, Mrs. Evelyn Simpson of East Palestine, president, Emmett Wallace of Canton, vice president, and Bruce Pelley of Hanover, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Dornbier, worthy matron of Mystic Chapter of Mantua; Mrs. Christine Collins, matron of Crescent Chapter of Chester, W. Va.; and 14 worthy matrons and 12 worthy patrons of district 13.

Palms and ferns were used to decorate the East station with a revolving light illuminating a broken column in keeping with the organization theme, "Faith and Hope."

Degrees were conferred on two candidates and an illuminated star presented to the chapter by Mr. and Mrs. Elder was accepted for the order by Harold Husted in memory of his wife, Miriam.

Mrs. Russell Lamoucha and Mrs. Wilder Foertch sang a duet, "Faith Unlocks the Door." Green and white mums and snapdragons were used in the centerpiece for the table at the social hour following the meeting.

COLUMBIANA MEMBERS of the Salem 200 Club of Women Bowlers will attend the annual picnic Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Centennial Park. Those planning to attend are to bring table service.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

LEETONIA — Mrs. Dan Cullinan, librarian, announces the new summer schedule to start Monday at the library. It is: Monday 7-9, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. On Wednesday the library will be closed. Village Council will meet in City Hall at 7 p.m. Monday, with the town lighting contract with Ohio Edison and the Chestnut St. water problem on the agenda.

Michael Perry of 226 Elm St. has been named homecoming parade marshal. Marching units and drill teams are being lined up and there is still time for anyone interested in joining the parade to contact Perry.

SEVEN TABLES WERE in play at the Rebekah lodge card party. Vernon Walters of Leetonia and Mrs. Albert Cox of Salem won top prizes, with special prizes going to Mrs. Roy Deane of Salem, Mrs. Carl Varian of Leetonia and Mrs. Clark McCowin of Leetonia. Mrs. Victor Peppel was hostess. The lodge will hold its next card party Saturday in the lodge hall.

A group of 50 children, including mothers and teachers, attended the kindergarten picnic in Centennial park in Salem.

TIM STARBUCK AND RICH SIDWELL "sack out" for night on their bicycle trip to California. Arrival date: June 15.

Starbuck, Sidwell Overcome Elements

Salem Cyclists Take In Sights On Trip

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

Blasted by bucking wind, sands and rain and plagued with a rash of flats, Tim Starbuck of Salem and Rich Sidwell of Middleton are in Arizona, less than three weeks from their destination, Palm Springs, Calif.

The bicycling pair, who left on an ugly, raw day in early April, would be in California sooner, but they are in the midst of an extensive sight-seeing tour in the Grand Canyon region and Flagstaff.

ON JUNE 4, THEY'LL SET out again across the Great Southwestern desert under the broiling sun, headed toward Palm Springs for a rendezvous with their outdoorsy teacher, Warren Stetzel, on June 15.

Except for the capricious elements, which were merciless at times, the youths have had a remarkable stretch of good luck.

Among their ill fortunes, a mystical siege of flat tires — 10 blowouts in a row — was most perplexing to the hardened cyclists. Their tires held perfectly all the way across Ohio, Kentucky, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Suddenly and without any hint, tires on both bikes started popping like Fourth of July at Idora Park.

By the time they got one fixed, another blew out, and the boys were in a brown stew. This was their first encounter with a strange bit of nature they hadn't counted on.

GOATBUSH, a bitter-barked, spiny shrub of the Southwest, had laid a prickly boobytrap along the route, puncturing the tires right and left. An experienced native told the youths to keep evaporated milk in the tires and the fluid would seal the holes made by the spines.

Wellsville Father, Son Are Sentenced

LISBON — A Wellsville area father and his 16-year-old son were sentenced Thursday in the theft of 3250 pounds of splice bars from the Pennsylvania Railroad yards in Salineville.

Leroy Edward Johnston, 42, was sentenced in juvenile court to three months in the county jail for contributing and in county court to 10 days for petty larceny by Judges Louis Tobin and James L. MacDonald respectively. His son received 15 days detention from Judge Tobin for his part in the theft. Juvenile Officer James Miller filed the charges in juvenile court, and Harry F. McCaskey, Pennsylvania Railroad officer filed the charges in county court.

OKAY ANIMAL CLAIM

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday approved a claim of Martha Dravis, Rogers RD 1, for $112.25 for nine ewes and one lamb killed April 26 by stray dogs.

In other business, they authorized Salem Township trustees to purchase a trojan model 114 loader for highway work for $11,500 and allowed travel allowance for Auditor Kenneth Bell to attend the state auditors meeting at Cedar Point June 17-20.

Lake Superior is 383 miles long, 160 miles wide at its widest point and has a maximum depth of 1,333 feet.

Finding the Way

Prayer Is Personal

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
About a hundred years ago a poet suggested:
"Lord, what a change within us one short hour Spent in Thy presence will prevail to make."
It was his confidence that prayer would make the difference!

ONE WONDERS about the dimensions of that difference, if all of the people who have been writing their letters concerning the proposed amendments to the Constitution demanding prayers in our schools, would all pray!

There is just the possibility that we have been shifting the responsibility from ourselves to others. It seems easier to amend the Constitution than ourselves.

Frankly, it seems too restrictive an interpretation to ban prayers from schools. The separation of church and state had to do with the binding of a government to a particular form of religious practice. That doesn't mean that we can't recognize God, or open a session of the legislature or a school with prayer or include 'under God' in a pledge of allegiance. To denude our life of the mention of God is to make our public and civic life completely secular.

IT IS ONE THING to ban prayer or to require it. To demand prayer on the basis of some of the logic expressed in Congress recently is another thing. One legislator insists that we must have prayer in our schools since that is the only place some students would meet the custom of prayer. Is this the business of our school system? Are we to shift the obligations of all other agencies of society to the schools?

To repeat a prayer in school ought not to be an affront to the Constitution, but by the same token, this formal repetition is hardly prayer. This would make the classroom act a pious form of idolatry. There should be freedom to repeat a prayer, but it is not the school's business to hold religious services. I am not the school's responsibility to instruct in how to pray.

THE SAME FREEDOM which makes it possible for an American to worship in freedom demands a sense of responsibility for that worship. If the present controversy serves to emphasize this need of personally developing a life of prayer and the urgency of sharing a life of prayer in the whole of our existence, then it will have emphasized an important hunger. An amendment to the Constitution can't do that. I will take an amending of our personal religious convictions, the rediscovery in our practice of our faith of our common need to know the living presence of God.

It is true that
"We kneel how weak; we rise how full of power."
We need to experience it!

Anzio . . . Okinawa . . . Iwo Jima? On which beachhead did they find it, that cross crudely drawn in the sand? No doubt it appeared on every blood-stained shore where gallant men of Christian faith have fallen wounded or dying!

For the Cross on which Christ died has ever stood as the symbol of His Life and Truth. And often It has spoken eloquently what human lips could not frame.

Is it not too little simply to honor those who have fought and died for our freedom? Each generation must inscribe its own prayer on the beachhead of history.

Religious freedom is the heart of our heritage.

In a world in which Liberty must be armed to endure, faith must be practiced to be preserved.

Pray for yourself, your family, your nation, your world . . . in the church of your choice next Sunday.

Our Honored Patriots

New casualties from Viet Nam are being added this Memorial Day to the ever-lengthening list of U.S. patriots who died in their country's service. We shall think of them when Memorial Day observances are in progress this year.

We shall remember the thousands killed and crippled in Korea, in a war called a "police action."

We shall think of the men who have lost their lives in planes, tanks, submarines, in a variety of accidents and disasters connected with the movements and maneuvers of the Cold War.

Our thoughts will turn, as they always have on other Memorial Day, to the Civil War and the bitterness that still has not disappeared from the never-ending struggle between the federal government and the states.

We shall remember the remorse-filled Spanish-American War that gave us responsibility for Cuba and the Philippines, World War I that was fought to make the world safe for democracy and World War II that was fought because the world had not been made safe for democracy.

In some of our oldest cemeteries there will be reminders of earlier wars—the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the French and Indian Wars, the War With Mexico.

Men speak of peace and die in war. They dream of security and live in violence.

They yearn for good will and rarely show it.

Always it is young men who reap the whirlwind of human belligerence, insecurity and hatred. This is why we honor our soldier dead in a special way—as a kind of atonement for their sacrifice in the wars their elders have blundered into and out in times past.

The blundering never stops. Fresh graves are in the cemeteries this year. New patients are in the veterans hospitals.

Looking For the Main Stream

Two dozen-odd members of the U.S. House of Representatives will go to California for the duration of the Goldwater-Rockefeller contest in the Republican presidential primary. Their mission will be to help Sen. Goldwater.

The strategy of using them in his campaign, along with others who may join them, is to show Californians the Arizona conservative has no lack of friends in the U.S. House of Representatives—that he is a national candidate. Upward of a dozen states will be represented.

Their campaign theme will raise some doubts. It will harp on the claim that Sen. Goldwater is more in the main stream of Republican thought than Gov. Rockefeller is.

This might be true in some parts of California. It might be true in some parts of Tennessee, or Michigan, or New Hampshire. But candidates and friends of candidates who claim their man is more truly representative of a party than his rival are raising a question that can't be answered.

The main stream of Republican may be what the Goldwaterites say it is, or what the Rockefeller people say it is. It's as easily possible it's what the Nixon backers say it is, the Scrantonites, the Romneyites, even the Stassenites, if any can be found.

The main stream of bipartisan political thought is what political candidates are looking for, so they can jump in and be carried along to easy victory. Franklin D. Roosevelt found it. Dwight D. Eisenhower found it.

Neither could claim he was in the main stream of his own party's thought when the success story began. On the contrary, both men were still cutting the grain of partisan thought even after they had demonstrated their vote-pulling power.

Third Possibility

A problem that never has been solved is being tackled by the New York City police department—how to keep defendants from claiming in court that they were victims of police brutality.

The claim is costliest and most mischievous when it is made for the purpose of discrediting a confession. Nothing frustrates police officials more than bringing a suspect to the point of signing a confession, only to hear later that the suspect claims it was brutally beaten out of him.

New York Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy says he is opposed to creating a board of persons from outside the police department to review accusation. A three member board composed of department personnel exists now.

An opposing point of view is that a board formed of persons outside the police department would bring accusations of police collusion when accusations of brutality are made and set aside.

Still another point of view isn't being considered at all—the possibility of providing a panel of citizens willing to be called on at any time to witness the handling of suspects by police departments.

Police brutality in most parts of the country is rare. But defense lawyers never miss a chance to go fishing with it, in the hope of catching an advantage for their client.

What would they do with the sworn testimony of a disinterested citizen that he had witnessed every move up to the signing of a confession and had seen no brutality?

What makes some people think they can buy a golden harp with a silver dime in the collection plate?

Overwork and crossing the street against a red light can give you that run-down feeling.

In Memory

By Truman Twill

This Memorial Day would be a good time to stand at the grave of a Union hero in an old cemetery and wonder why we are still fighting the Civil War.

What happened to the belief that the men who marched away to what was to be one of the grisiest and bloodiest wars of history were going to keep the Confederacy from destroying the United States?

What have we been decorating the graves of Civil War soldiers for all these years if it wasn't in honor of their sacrifice to save the nation?

Yet here we are in 1964 listening to Southerners talk as if the Confederacy had gained a tie in the Civil War.

Here we are, a century later, still struggling with Southern obstructionism over the human rights of Negroes, unable to proceed with a program of national unity because a handful of irreconcilables refuse to put the welfare of all the American people ahead of their narrow interests.

THE SAME glint-eyed hatred that set brother against brother when Southern hot-heads tried to scuttle the Union because they were unwilling to live under its authority is reappearing. Intransigence supposedly overcome for all time when the Confederacy finally admitted it had been whipped is reappearing.

What has happened?

Southerners are still flying Confederate flags and talking as if they were living under a truce—waiting for the "South to rise again." They are defying federal authority and still whooping up "Copperhead" sentiment in the North.

Were the 646,392 casualties of Union forces in the Civil War in vain?

Were the passions that burned so fiercely during that terrible war just a firework display marking the end of the plantation era?

Or did this nation go to the edge of ruin to win redemption and deserve to enjoy what it won?

IN THE LITTLE town where I grew up, school children marched with American flags on Memorial Day and listened to patriotic oratory in the park behind the court house. There was a ceremony in the town cemetery out on the north side of town.

We did not listen to Southern politicians preach on states' rights and race hatred. We listened to accounts of a great thing that had been done for the salvation and perpetuation of our beloved country.

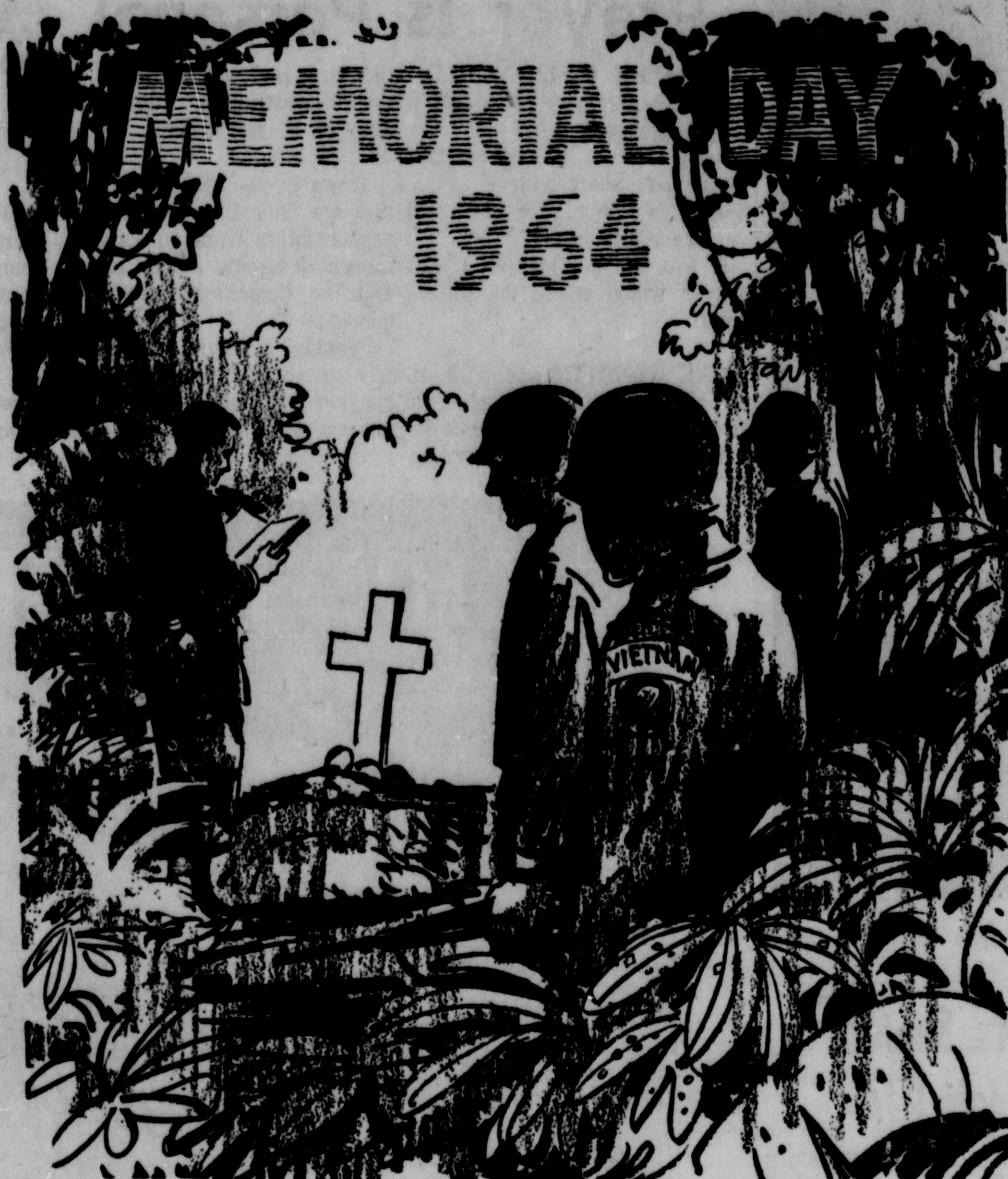

We looked in awe at the surviving veterans of the Civil War because they had been part of an awesome experience from which Abraham Lincoln had emerged as the greatest of all Americans.

This Memorial Day would be a very good time indeed to stand at the grave of a Union soldier and ponder the ideals that were going to unify America once the secessionists had been defeated.

How much longer is this republic supposed to wait for the losers to acknowledge how the Civil War turned out?

'The Westmoreland Coup'

By BEVERLY DEEPE

SAIGON

The merger of two American military headquarters in South Viet Nam is known around Saigon as "the Westmoreland coup." It was preceded not only by some typical inter-service infighting, but by a sharp intramural squabble among Army officers as well.

The "coup" takes its name from Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the young, tough deputy commander of Military Assistance Command, Viet Nam (MAC-V). He will become commander of all U.S. troops in Viet Nam when Gen. Paul D. Harkins retires this August.

Gen. Westmoreland apparently decided to press for the merger months ago when he was first posted to Saigon. Eventually the proposal pitted Army generals against each other, according to highly informed sources, and the sounds of battle reverberated from Saigon to Pacific headquarters in Hawaii to the Pentagon.

"The Americans always accuse the Vietnamese generals of spending too much time fighting each other instead of the Communist guerrillas," one Vietnamese businessman said. "But they are just as bad."

THE ORIGINAL Westmoreland plan recommended changing MAC-V from a joint command of Army, Navy and Air Force to a specified command in which one service would be superior.

In this case, it would be the Army, since the anti-Communist war here is mostly a ground operation and most American personnel are Army.

Air Force and Navy commanders predictably opposed the move. But Army generals in the Military Assistance Advisor Group (MAAG) were also opposed, as was Maj. Gen. Richard Stilwell, formerly operations chief of MAC-V but recently promoted to chief of staff.

According to reliable sources, Gen. Harkins, current MAC-V commander, reluctantly went along with the Westmoreland scheme. The plan was then submitted to the next higher headquarters—commander-in-chief, Pacific, Adm. Harry D. Felt wrote a "strongly expressed dissenting view" and forwarded it to the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

Air Force and Navy chiefs automatically vetoed the scheme, which would curtail their authority in Vietnam. The Army voted for it. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara brought up the subject of merging commands during his March visit and presumably studied the problem in Washington.

IT ISN'T KNOWN in Saigon whether President Johnson was consulted or advised on the matter. By mid-April, however, Washington had rejected the original recommendation to give the Army full control in Viet Nam, but did approve a merger of MAC-V and MAAG.

The merger's aim: "Eliminating duplication of functions and improving responsiveness," according to Directive 10-2, dated April 25, and signed by Maj. Gen. R. G. Weede, then chief of staff.

It was originally predicted there would be a small-scale cut in American administrative and staff personnel by "disestablishment" of one headquarters. But instead the personnel figures jumped.

"This is really Parkinson's Law," an American civilian joked. "We trim and we trim—but come out with more people."

Before the merger, there were 3,400 personnel attached to both MAAG and MAC-V. But this has now increased by at least 300 by the adding of two-man teams of an American captain and sergeant in 100 districts in the provinces.

This is considered an important indication of increased American involvement at lower military and government levels.

Officially, American military sources say there are 15,500 American personnel in Viet Nam. However, unofficially, they admit the number has jumped to 18,000 in the past several months.

THE FIGURE is roughly equivalent to an American division, which in normal circumstances would be commanded by three generals. However, in Viet Nam there are currently 14 generals—and it once peaked to 19 generals, all stationed in Saigon.

The resulting bureaucracy, duplication and red tape was a frequent source of gripes—and humor—for Americans based in the field and gave rise to a much-applauded ditty often sung at a popular bar:

Oh, dear, what can the matter be,

Nineteen generals and no strategy—

American GI's in the field often called the chief headquarters "MAC-VC"—VC is the abbreviated version of the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

The merger brings to a close the granddaddy American headquarters of MAAG and the resulting transfer of MAAG chief, Maj. Gen. Charles J. Timmes, the enthusiastic, dynamic general who has served in Viet Nam longer than any other general officer.

MAAG UNITS are scattered in allied countries throughout the world, primarily to issue and check the distribution of American military equipment and to advise other nationalities on its proper use and care. But the 3,000-man MAAG in Viet Nam was the largest, and it was unique.

It was founded in Viet Nam shortly after the close of the French-Indochina War. According to the Geneva agreement of 1954, MAAG personnel were limited to fewer than 700. When it was obvious that the Communist guerrillas had broken the agreement by systematic infiltration in late 1960, the U.S. began to increase its strength the next year.

All American personnel in Viet Nam are called "advisers." In fact, the term applies only to the 3,000 MAAG troops—or "Co Van My," as the Vietnamese call them. They are the key—and elite group in Viet Nam—for they work directly with Vietnamese battalion, regimental, division and corps commanders.

They go to battle when their Vietnamese counterparts go. They eat rice and fish heads in the "boondocks." Their assignment is to "advise and train"—but not to command—which leads to extreme frustrations for energetic American officers.

There was considerable truth in Gen. Harkins' jest that MAAG meant the "most accepted, aggravated group." Their orders were not to fire unless fired upon, but many of them never got a chance to fire back. More than 200 have been killed or wounded.

Live To One Hundred

There are about as many theories on how to live to be 100 as there are people who have reached the century mark, according to an article in the current (June) Today's Health magazine, published by the American Medical Association.

Most centenarians could probably agree on the life-preserving values of the right foods, sufficient rest, and moderation, the article said. But when it comes to the use of alcohol and tobacco, anyone sifting through the advice of the oldsters finds a split right down the middle.

For example, 105-year-old George Kent of Thurvaston, England, attributed his life span to his daily custom of a pint of beer and pipe-smoking, but a retired barber of the same age, Charles Decker of Marcellus, Mich., credited his longevity to the fact that he neither drank nor smoked.

Bernardo Ramirez Hernandez, the Mexican who died in 1963 at the reputed age of 133, always maintained that he had never been ill and had drunk tequila every day.

A more scientific opinion has been offered by Dr. Robert J. Samp of the University of Wisconsin on the basis of a survey of 29,000 Americans who made it to the age of 100. Dr. Samp concluded that "all of them seemed to have adopted the policy of 'Why fight? Why not roll with the punch?'

In addition to moderation, he said, a person's future life and length depends on such things as competing with the Joneses and the boss, and on environment and heredity.

Q's and A's

How many U.S. airplanes took part in the famous Doolittle raid on Japan in April, 1942?

A—Sixteen B-25 bombers.

Q—Is the teaching of evolution still forbidden in Tennessee?

A—Yes.

Q—By how many years did the term of Franklin D. Roosevelt exceed that of any other U.S. President?

A—By 4 years and 39 days.

Q—What tree is associated with the manna of Biblical days?

A—The Tamarix. An insect punctures the bark of young twigs and a white substance oozes out. This dries and flakes fall off, so that the ground is "white with manna from Heaven."

Q—How did Franklin Roosevelt touch off a controversy over the U.S. Supreme Court?

A—By proposing the addition of six new associate justices to the court.

In Memoriam

By JOHN N. ADAMS

On this Memorial Day, as it has for the last 96 years, this nation pauses to honor those who gave their lives in its defense.

On May 30, 1868, Gen. John A. Logan inaugurated Memorial Day in honor of the dead of the Grand Army of the Republic with this pledge:

"If other eyes grow dull and other hands shake, and other hearts grow cold in the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well so long as the light of warmth, the warmth of life, remains to us."

Today, this special holiday commemorates every generation of Americans. Many came of pioneer families, many were new to this land.

THEY DIFFERED in color, religion, profession, political preference and many other ways but all had one thing in common—they fought to the death for liberty's cause on battlefields from Lexington and Saratoga to New Orleans, Manassas, Belleau Wood, Anzio, Coral Sea, Pork Chop Hill, Saigon and Laos.

Because of their sacrifices we are free today—our nation is first among free nations. For this heritage, we owe an eternal debt of gratitude and an obligation.

Their sacrifices place on us, the living, not only the preservation of liberty or the opposition to Communism but also the obligation to make a contribution to the strengthening of our nation as great as theirs was in defending it.

Today, in addition to the community observances, the national observance is centered on Arlington National Cemetery.

Starting early in the morning, visitors by the thousands will cross the Arlington Memorial Bridge and enter the national shrine.

THE MAJORITY will be reverent, silent, solemn and respectful to those who are buried there. A few will be there out of morbid curiosity.

Since the burial of President John F. Kennedy, thousands of tourists flocking to the slain president's grave have thoughtlessly desecrated the nation's most famous cemetery.

Flowers have been stolen from graves, litter from picnics clutter the scene. Tombstones have been resting places for the weary, and boys and girls have played tag and leapfrog through the rows of crosses. That Arlington is hallowed ground has meant nothing to these self-centered pleasure seekers.

IN Dedicating the Gettysburg Battlefield, President Abraham Lincoln admonished the nation: "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they have thus far so nobly advanced."

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here richly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that the government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

It has been 100 years since Lincoln, in the Emancipation Proclamation, cut the chains that bound man in slavery in the United States.

NOW, 100 YEARS later, it falls upon all citizens to display responsibility and restraint, to try to understand the urgency of the Negroes' desire for recognition. It is an obligation of all of us to follow the roads of education and persuasion instead of violence to the solution of our segregation problem.

The road to that destination, just as the road to peace, is long and hard; there are many bends and forks and roadblocks. It will call for sacrifices which we must make either willingly or unwillingly.

Today's flowery oratory, waving flags and colorful parades will mean nothing, unless we recognize our indebtedness to the past. The wisdom and energy that give a nation stature and growth are as much a part of active patriotism as courage on the battlefield.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Memorial Day, May 30, the 151st day of 1964. There are 215 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1868, Memorial Day—then called Decoration Day—was first formally observed in memory of the Northern dead of the Civil War.

On this date

In 1539, Spanish explorer Hernando de Soto landed in Florida.

In 1854, the Kansas-Nebraska Act was passed, virtually withdrawing the federal government from the question of local slavery.

In 1922, the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated at Washington.

In 1928, the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Park was dedicated at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N.Y.

In 1942, the first 1,000-plane attack in history was made on the German city of Cologne.

Ten years ago—President Eisenhower spoke at the bicentennial celebration of Columbia University in New York.

Five years ago—Iraqi Premier Abdul Karim Kassam told Western newsmen he would block Communist activities in his nation if they threatened the rights of the people.

One year ago—A gravely ill Pope John rallied, easing immediate fears for his life.

(From The News Files)

10 YEARS AGO—Approximately 3,500 persons attended the opening ceremonies for the $89,700 Centennial Park Swimming pool.

Salem and Columbus riders tied 6-6 in a polo match yesterday at the Ellsworth Rd. field.

25 YEARS AGO—The largest class in the history of Salem High School will receive diplomas at graduation exercises next Friday. There are 205 in the class.

Miss Betty Walton recently entertained the Maids of Salem 38 at her home on the Winona Rd.

35 YEARS AGO—Rev. L. S. Rose will address the 115 members of the senior class at Salem High School at the annual services Sunday evening at the Methodist Church.

The Salem High School Alumni Association will meet at the school Friday, Robert Van Harrison, president, announced today.

So They Say

The chief danger to a free press is from government. Big government, especially.

—Stanford Smith, American Newspaper Publishers Assn. general manager, to 78th annual ANPA meeting.

Because of our aggressive investigative activity, the Soviet intelligence services consider the United States as the most difficult country in which to carry on clandestine espionage operations.

—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

I am exercising all the precautions that prudent men, responsible for my safety, recommend, but the President is still going to speak to the people of this country and necessarily is going to associate with them.

—President Johnson says he'll continue his personal contact with Americans.

Matter of Fact

Baseball did not originate in America. Almost 100 years before the birth of Abner Doubleday, the game was being played in England during the first half of the eighteenth century. Doubleday's contribution to the game was to fix base locations and determine distances between them.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our next-door neighbors have done so many mean and petty things that we are seriously considering selling our home to get away from them. Here is the latest incident and we want your advice:

Our 11-year-old son left his bicycle in their driveway. Yes, we know he should not have been so careless, but kids will be kids. The neighbor woman pretended not to see the bike and backed her car over it just for spite. The bike is so badly smashed that no shop will attempt to repair it.

Now get this: After the woman wrecked our son's bike she banged on our front door, enraged, because she had been scared out of her wits. She thought at first that she had hit the boy, too.

When my husband told her husband that they owe us a new bike he replied, "You people are crazy."

We know you don't give legal advice, but what we want is common-sense advice. Does this woman owe us a new bike?—NEXT DOOR TO TROUBLE.

Dear Trouble: The bike was in her driveway, wasn't it? Well, the answer should be fairly obvious.

To put it another way, let the boy earn at least half the price of a new bike and YOU can supply the other half. Perhaps he will take better care of a second bike if he has to do something to earn it.

Sings for Supper

Dear Ann: My husband and I had a terrific argument. We both said some pretty harsh things to each other which we regretted later. I was so angry with him because he made a remark about my being lazy that I refused to cook his dinner. We have no children and I had eaten several hours earlier.

A close friend of mine told me that no matter how mad a woman gets she has no right to refuse to cook her husband's dinner. According to her, it's the same as if the man refused to go to work.

I do not agree with her. May we have your opinion?—STILL FUMING.

Dear Fuming: Since when is dinner a special favor—bestowed on a husband only when he is pleasant and agreeable?

Preparing meals is as much a woman's responsibility as bringing home the pay check is a man's. These basic responsibilities are unconditional, so think up another punishment, Toots.

Hello With Thanks

Dear Ann: Thank you for taking the side of the switchboard operator. Since I handle an eight-line board alone, and must do some typing as well, I know what the problems are.

I wonder if the average person realizes what it's like to be on a long-distance call when three or four other calls come in. The board lights up like the Fourth of July and the operator doesn't know which one to grab first.

One wrong move disconnects the party and then you get an earful of some pretty ugly language from the world's highest-paid executives.

When office employees complain about the operators' listening in on personal calls you can be sure of two things:

1. The complainant is wasting a lot of her boss' time on her own personal calls.
2. The complainant's private life has some fairly unsavory aspects and she fears exposure—CENTIPEDE SUZY.

Dear Centipede: Thanks to you, and to the hundreds of other switchboard operators who wrote. (One gal from Orlando called me "the Patron Saint of the PBX.")

Many operators emphasized that first-rate office employees don't worry about their personal calls because they make so few and those calls are brief and "dirt free."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—Our 18-month-old son has a craving to eat dirt. He'd rather eat dirt than candy. He is otherwise normal. What can I do to stop him?

A—It is not uncommon for a toddler to eat a great variety of substances that are not food. This is part of his exploration of his universe. The cause is not known, but this tendency does not indicate any lack of an essential nutrient in his diet—dirt would not supply such a lack. All toddlers should be watched and prevented from eating things that are harmful.

Flakes of old paint from the walls present a real hazard—lead poisoning—unless the walls have been painted with one of the newer leadless paints. The best way to stop your son from continuing this or any other potentially dangerous habit is to issue a firm ultimatum: No more dirt! You must teach him early in life that there are some things he just can't do.

Q—My 11-year-old daughter has a high IQ, but she can't seem to do her school work properly. Her father was killed in an auto accident when she was six. Could this have anything to do with her poor school work?

A—Emotional reactions of children to the death of a loved one vary greatly. It is certainly possible that your daughter is still brooding over the death of her father and this could have a bad effect on her school performance.

This would be especially true if she has never had a chance to talk out her ideas and fears about death. Some children have weird and unrealistic ideas that need to be aired and clarified. The fact that five years have already elapsed would indicate a deep-seated problem for which your daughter may need the help of a specialist in child psychology.

Q—Our doctor says our 5-year-old son has polyostotic fibrous dysplasia. He says there is no cure for it. What is the cause and what should we do?

A—Your son's condition is due to a developmental defect. It is characterized by bone cysts and is usually limited to one side of the body. Fibrous connective tissue is present in place of bone in the cystic areas.

Since the affected bones are fragile and easily broken, special care, usually in the form of braces, is necessary. In some victims overactivity of the parathyroid glands is the cause and in such cases removal of these glands will cure the disease.

Peggy Newhouse Wed To Thomas B. Flick

The chapel of the First Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Peggy Lou Newhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Newhouse of RD 3, Salem, and Thomas Brant Flick, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Flick of Diehl Lake, Berlin Center, May 23 at 8:30 p.m.

Rev. William S. Longworth officiated at the double ring ceremony at an altar banked with palms and arrangements of white carnations flanked by cathedral candelabra. Traditional nuptial selections were played by Homer Taylor.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza over taffeta fashioned with long sleeves, lace applique trimmed scoop neckline, and bustle-effect back on the full skirt ending in a chapel length train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and fuji mums and her elbow-length veil was held by a crown of seed pearls.

Attendants were Miss Donna Rice, maid of honor, Miss Carol Hall and Miss Victoria Carlisle, niece of the bride, bridesmaids.

They were gowned in street length pink silk organza over taffeta dresses complemented with nose veils caught to crowns of pink organza florets. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Ronald Finch was best man. James Flick, brother of the bridegroom, and Galen Lee Newhouse, brother of the bride, ushers.

A floral print dress was worn by Mrs. Newhouse for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Flick's dress was a green silk shantung sheath. Both had corsages of roses.

Reception at Church
Miss Denise Duke, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book at the reception in the social room of the church.

Yellow daisies and ivy encircled the three-tier cake trimmed in silver which centered the bride's table.

The bride is employed in the accounting department by the Electric Furnace Co. and is a graduate of Leetonia High School. Mr. Finch is a graduate of Greenford High School and employed by the Salem Stamp and Mfg. Co.

For her honeymoon to Virginia the bride wore a green suit and corsage from her bouquet. They will reside at 420 W. 5th St.

Mr. and Mrs. James Flick were hosts at the rehearsal dinner at Timberlakes the evening before the wedding.

Talbot-Rance Vows Spoken At Leetonia

Nuptial vows were exchanged May 23 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Leetonia, uniting in marriage Miss Kathleen Talbot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Talbot of Newgarden Ave., and James Rance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rance of Columbia St., Leetonia.

Rev. Paul Petric officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony at an altar adorned with vases of white gladioli. Mrs. Leon Kuniewicz presided at the organ and Mrs. Shirley Stout, sister of the bridegroom, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a ballerina length white satin gown with lace jacket and bell-shaped skirt. A white satin pill box held her shoulder length veil and she carried white carnations and yellow roses on a white prayer book.

Miss Pamela Maruca was maid of honor in a blue chiffon and lace dress with matching rose for a headpiece. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

Paul Rance was best man for his brother, and another brother, John, ushered.

Mrs. Talbot wore a blue lace suit for her daughter's wedding and the mother of the bridegroom a lavender print dress. Both complemented their ensembles with corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a buffet lunch was served to the bridal party with Mr. and Mrs. Talbot as hosts.

Two hundred guests attended the reception that evening in the Sons of Italy hall in Leetonia, and were registered by Mrs. John Roose.

Yellow roses trimmed the three tier cake topped with miniature bridal figurines, which rested on a base encircled with tiny mums and fern, on the bride's table. Crystal candelabra holding white tapers and yellow and white mums in crystal bowls centered the tables on either side of the bride's table. Hostesses were Mrs. Haidee Cunningham, Mrs. Ada Talbot, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Robert Miles, Mrs. Robert Hergenroder, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Robert H. Talbot.

The couple honeymooned at Washington, D.C., and are residing at 303 Columbia St., Leetonia.

The bride is a graduate of Salem Senior High School. Mr. Rance is employed by the Berg Bretzel Co. at Leetonia and is a graduate of Leetonia High School.

First Christian Program Honors Mothers, Daughters

The Mother-Daughter banquet of the Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church was held Tuesday night at the church.

Members of First Christian Men's Fellowship served the 165 who attended. Pedestal arrangements of hurricane lamps surrounded by red geraniums decorated the tables.

Mrs. Fred Schramm, mistress of ceremonies, gave the toast to mothers and daughters and Mrs. Calvin Filler gave the invocation.

Nancy Hinchcliff played a piano solo, "To Each His Own" and a quartet comprised of Pam Brudery, Tina DeJane, Connie Briskin and Sandy Elliott, sang the daughters' responses and several other numbers. Mrs. Harold Deitch was accompanist.

A playlet in six scenes "Mother - Daughter Through the Years" was given by Mrs. Russell Thomas, Miss Roberta Thomas, Mrs. Perry Huffman, Mrs. Richard Wilson, Miss Peggy Wilson, Mrs. Richard Boughton, Miss Linda Boughton, Mrs. Robert Beeson, Miss Bonnie Beeson, Mrs. Paul Heim, Mrs. Harry Rutledge and Miss Cathy Rutledge. Mrs. Deitch was stage manager.

Mrs. Martin Lee Ruth, president of the fellowship, presented awards to the following mothers: Oldest, Mrs. Margaret Hanay and Mrs. David Foltz; newest, Mrs. William Herold; most daughters present, Mrs. Frank Thomas and Mrs. George Mounts, each with four generations present; and to Lisa Herold, six - months - old, as the youngest daughter present.

Quota Hears Reports, Plans For Events

Miss Helen Ailes presided when members of the Salem Quota Club gathered for a business meeting Tuesday evening at the Ruth Smucker House. Reports of standing committees were presented and among correspondence read was an invitation from the East Liverpool club to attend its anniversary celebration in June.

A report on the annual President's Council held recently at Columbus was given by Miss Ailes who said the 6th district fall conference will be in September in Cincinnati.

Members of the board will meet June 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lester Messersmith of 884 Summit St., who will also be hostess to the coverdish picnic meeting June 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Emmanuel Lutherans Fete Mothers And Daughters

A spring garden scene was the setting for the Mother-Daughter banquet of the women of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church recently at the church social room.

Mrs. Richard Freseman opened with prayer and Mrs. Walter Linder gave the address of welcome.

Toastmistress was Mrs. LaMont Ickes, and Kristine Ulrich gave the tribute to mothers with her mother, Mrs. Andrew Ulrich, giving the response.

Group singing was enjoyed under the leadership of Mrs. Martin Roth and Mrs. Michael Miller.

Mrs. Dale Thompson was narrator for "The Little Glamour Girls," and the "Kazoo," Linda Kekel, Beverly Krauss, Trudy Klammer, Stephanie Fernengel and Mrs. Freseman, presented a musical program. Recognition was given Mrs. Regina Drotloff as the oldest mother present; Mrs. Samuel Stambaugh, youngest mother, Mrs. Walter Linder, mother with the most children, and Sheryl Bartha, smallest daughter present.

Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Mrs. John Kandert.

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: Recently, while trying to light the candles on a huge birthday cake... they just wouldn't.

Know why? Candles (especially if there are many) should be lit with a match, allowed to burn a few seconds and then snuffed out. Let them burn just until the end of the wick is black.

Then when it comes time for the terrific highlight of the program... the candle lighting session... one little "light" usually lights every candle. It is also best to put one candle aside to use for this purpose instead of matches or a cigarette lighter.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Please help! My husband and I are getting "shocked to death" from a new nylon rug (with a foam rubber backing) every time we walk across it.

With a new baby expected in a few weeks we are naturally apprehensive.

Is there any solution to our problem?

E. EMOND.

Anyone know? If so write to Heloise care of this paper.

painting the woodwork in my living room recently, I discovered many hard-to-get at corners, increased by the fact that the color of the woodwork is a completely different color than the walls.

On an impulse, I started using a tiny cotton swab dipped in the paint for that tedious job and finished the job in far less time with no "problem" corners.

This same little swab does a wonderful job on furniture too, such as when painting knobs and fancy legs etc.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found a wonderful solution for getting that 4 a.m. bottle warmed before the entire family is awake.

I put the baby's formula into the prepared bottles (which have all been sterilized) and store them in my refrigerator without adding the water.

Then when feeding time comes around I just boil some hot water, which takes only a few minutes, and pour it into the bottle which I have taken from the refrigerator.

By adding the hot water to the extremely cold formula, the temperature is perfect and, hooray, a warm bottle ready in one minute flat with no overheating or underheating, etc.

SLEEPYHEAD.

You may be a sleepyhead, but you were wide awake when you wrote us that hint! I only wish I had known it when my babies were little.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wrap thoroughly rinsed, unironed, unstarched linens in ordinary blue tissue paper and slip them into a blue plastic garment cover (from the cleaners) and they do not yellow. (Don't ask me why.)

The blue tissue will bleach through, after a period.

I store my teen-agers dinner jackets and dress shirts this way and it works beautifully.

I examined linens every six months and change the tissue if it has become bleached.

B. JONES.

DEAR HELOISE: Planning on a child's birthday party soon?

Try this: Make cupcakes, putting the dough in ice-cream cones (the kind that sit flat on the table). Fill with batter... LESS than one inch full. Bake as usual. Spoon ice cream on top for trimming. Gum drops may be added.

The kids will love this and everything can be eaten.

Reilly Installs Officers

Walter Hendricks was installed as president for the 1964-65 season and Mrs. Donald Whitacre, as treasurer, when members of the Reilly School Parent-Teacher Association held their last meeting of the season Tuesday night at the school.

Richard Cobourn, a past president of the organization, was installing officer.

Mr. Hendricks then presented Wayne J. Steffel, out-going president, with his past-president's pin.

Mrs. Laura Cosma, president of Salem Council of Camp Fire Girls, spoke on the need for sponsors for the Blue Bird (seven-year-olds) groups, and the PTA will sponsor two groups at Reilly School.

Principal Earle Smith spoke briefly on accomplishments of this past term and proposed changes for the next school year.

Mrs. Thomas Paparodis was chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. Richard Hannon.

U.S. Officials Prepare for Strategy Session on Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense and foreign policy leaders met at the State Department on Friday to prepare for a major review of the Southeast Asian question in Honolulu next week. After the 90-minute meeting attended by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and others, it was understood that:

1. The military - diplomatic chiefs are not expected to reach a final decision at the strategy session in Honolulu on Monday and Tuesday. Their report to President Johnson could still include a range of choices.

2. A wide variety of military-diplomatic moves still are under consideration.

3. Behind all this is a basic U.S. determination to resist the Communist thrust.

White House sources with the President at Johnson City, Tex., disclosed that Johnson conferred for half an hour in New York Friday night with Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. Johnson reportedly talked with Pearson about the Southeast Asia situation.

In London, Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy completed a two-day visit with announcement of complete understanding with the British "on the gravity of the situation in Laos and on the various courses open to us in trying to resolve it."

British authorities believe the United States might hurry military reinforcements to Thailand. Secretary of State Dean Rusk flies to Bangkok on Saturday from New Delhi.

British informants said Bundy, who will join Rusk, left London without any blanket commitment of British support for a U.S. military action because Washington has not yet decided just what course to follow.

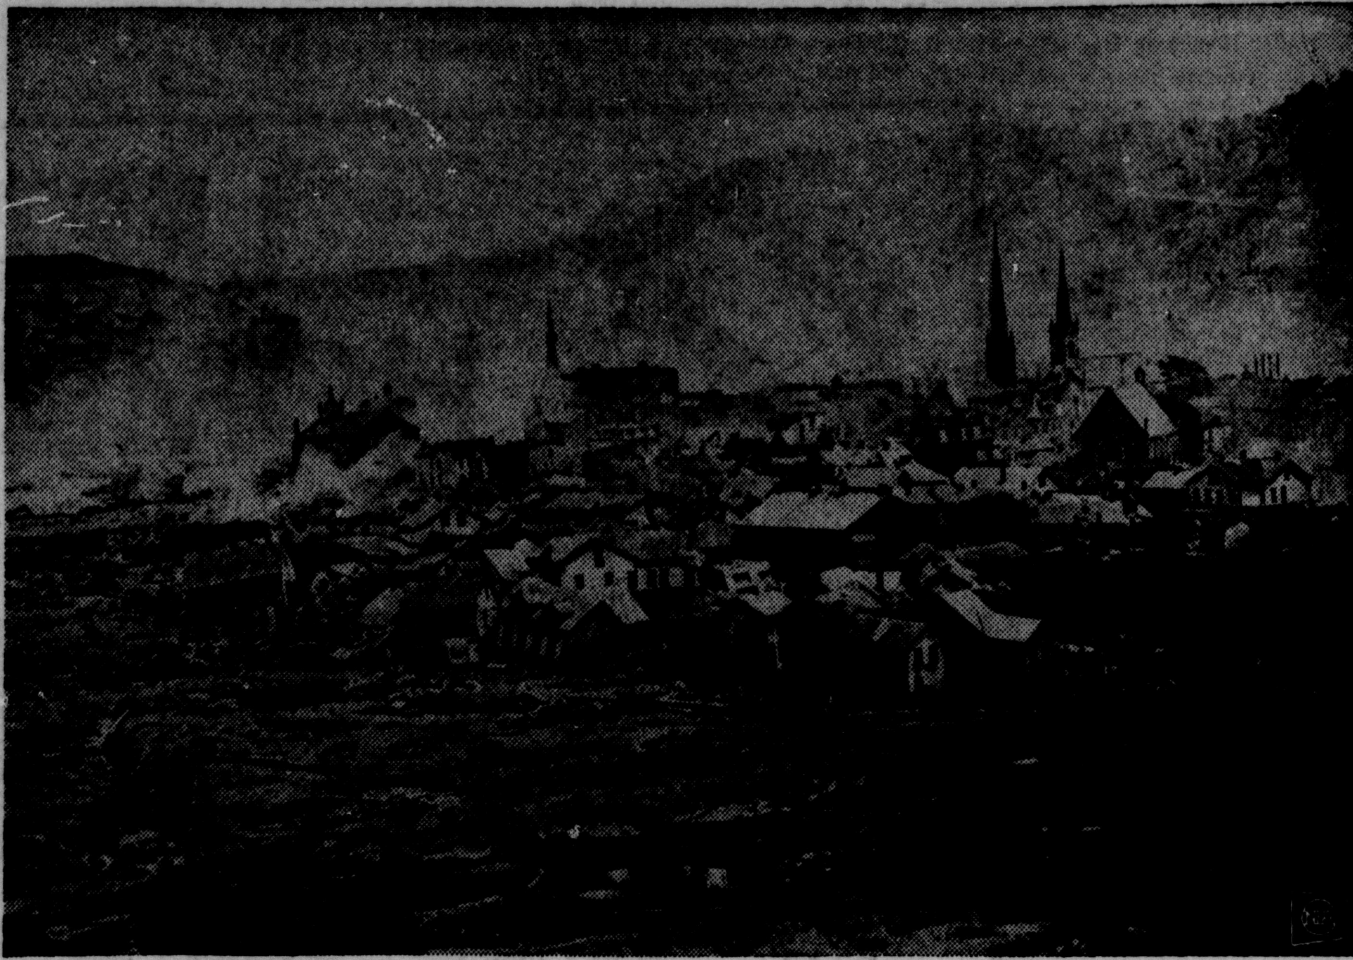

Washington sources said a major U.S. policy decision has been thrust on the United States because of last week's Communist-led Pathet Lao conquest of the Plain des Jarres in central Laos.

They explained: The Red advance has raised the question of U.S. intent in the whole area. Guerrilla-pressed South Viet Nam and Thailand, both U.S.-supported neighbors of Laos, wonder what reliance to place on U.S. backing if America does nothing about Communist aggression in Laos.

Strengthening the U.S. military position in the area would have an important psychological effect but there is reluctance to take military steps which could expand the conflict into a ground war with Red China.

It is also desirable from the U.S. view to use diplomatic avenues, including perhaps the United Nations, before any military operations that could cross over into a Communist land like North Viet Nam.

75th Anniversary of the Johnstown, Pa., Flood

In a disaster remembered in history, 75 years ago, on May 31, 1889, the city of Johnstown, Pa., was virtually wiped off the map. Heavy rains had sent the rivers over their channels in the community, with water standing up to 10 feet deep. The catastrophe occurred, however, when the South Fork Dam broke in the hills 16 miles northeast of the city. This tremendous body of water—three miles long, a mile wide and 60 feet deep—rushed wildly down the Conemaugh Valley into Johnstown, sweeping everything before it. More than 2,000 persons were drowned. This photo, taken a few days after the disaster, shows the broken remains of a once pulsing city.

study hall and visual education room for television and movies. Kittel, an islander for four years, teaches most of the high school subjects. "One of the elementary teachers (there are two and one substitute) comes up to teach science courses and the students get commercial subjects through extension courses," Kittel explained.

An airborne educational television project from Purdue University also is used.

"If students want to learn they don't have to be surrounded by a great amount of subjects," Kittel said. "It's the amount of effort a teacher and a pupil puts forth that counts."

The school has evaded hassles with the state school board over minimum standards because no other school is available.

Kittel served as an executive in the Morrow and Athens County school systems before coming here.

"I don't know why I came," he said. "I guess the novelty and the quiet. You can rest and work at the same time."

The isolated atmosphere, however, isn't keeping Kelleys' lone graduate from following the trail of many high school graduates. Sharon plans to be married next month and will move away from her island home.

And next year's graduating class is a big one—three.

Public School Forum Scheduled Monday

The fourth in a series of public forums on school programs will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the choral room of the Salem Senior High School.

Yoons Will Attend Air Force Academy

LISBON — A Lisbon High School senior who was named valedictorian of his class Friday, has accepted an appointment to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Charles J. Yoons, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Yoons of RD 5, is now awaiting orders to report.

He was appointed by Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, congressman of the 18th district. Yoons passed his mental tests and about two months ago reported to Columbus Air Force Base for his physical examination.

He was a regular center on the high school basketball team the past year and has won two other letters in basketball.

to Great Britain, Joseph P. Kennedy.

The house dominates the Kennedy compound which has three other summer homes owned by the Kennedy clan. One of them is that of the late president.

Mrs. Kennedy brought her two children, daughter Caroline, now 6, and John F. Kennedy Jr., 3½, with her for the visit to the seaside home the Kennedys love so well.

Accompanying her also were her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, two Kennedy sisters, Jean Smith and Patricia Lawford, and four of the attorney general's children.

Another brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts on a trip to Europe, joined Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass at the Irish Parliament buildings for a segment of the program.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and Harold D. Macmillan, former prime minister of Great Britain, also were on the program which enlisted the Telstar II satellite to bounce signals across the Atlantic.

Friday, also was the day the John F. Kennedy five-cent memorial stamp went on sale.

The sale opening in Boston, the late president's home city, was marked by appropriate ceremonies and as Gov. Endicott Peabody proclaimed the day John F. Kennedy Memorial Day in Massachusetts.

FINED BY COUNTY JUDGE

LISBON — Frank Batcha, 42, of 543 Perry St., Salem, was fined $10 and costs Friday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for selling ice cream and soft drinks at Guilford Lake State Park without a permit. Judge MacDonald suspended all the fine and costs provided he refrains from selling without a license at the park in the future. He was cited by Walter Burbick, park manager.

will be up to it." U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Chester Bowles, who attended Nehru's funeral Thursday, sat in the gallery — on the floor of the house adjoining the Communist benches — through speeches eulogizing the man who had run India for 17 years.

As peacemakers, Radhakrishnan and Kamaraj faced immense difficulties, for none of the potential candidates to succeed Nehru showed any sign of backing down.

Leading contenders were felt to be Acting Prime Minister Nanda, Lal Bahadur Shastri, minister without portfolio and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari.

Hanover Alumni Elect Officers At Dinner Event

HANOVERTON — A dinner and program highlighted the meeting of the Hanover High Alumni Association at the Legion Hall.

Miss Anna Sinclair, a former primary teacher, and Chester Brautigam, executive head of United School District, were guests.

Instrumental music was furnished by Thomas Pike and son James. Vocal music was by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Catlett, Mrs. Shirley, Arthur Catlett and Arthur Kibler.

Members from the 50th year class present were: Harold Raley, Mrs. Helen Camp Pilmer, Milan Sanor, Mrs. Mary Richey Moser and John Batzli. New officers are: John Batzli, president; Arthur Kibler, vice president; and Mrs. Richard Speidel, secretary and treasurer.

OLAN SANOR of the Columbiana County Planning Commission spoke at the recent meeting of the Hanover Township Ruritan club.

President Joseph Marra presided when plans were made for a barbecue to be held in July.

Bliss Is Awarded Air Force Contract

The E. W. Bliss Co. has received a $1,593,648 contract from the U.S. Air Force for 56 aircraft arresting units.

The units were designed by Bliss' Aircraft Launching and Recovery Equipment Division, Drexel Hill, Pa., and will be built by the company's Bliss-Portland Division in Portland, Maine, according to Carl E. Anderson, Bliss president.

With an energy-absorbing capacity of 70 million foot-pounds, the BAK-12 is capable of arresting all current military fighter aircraft at speeds up to 190 knots within a runout distance of 950 feet.

Bloodmobile Due Here On June 9

North Columbiana Red Cross Blood Program officials are hoping for a large turnout when the Bloodmobile is at the Methodist Church on S. Broadway June 9 from noon to 6 p.m.

Chairman Louis Raymond said "We have just been averaging quota on our collection." "A poor collection would put us under the quota for the year."

The chairman pointed out that area residents are saved nearly $40,000 yearly by the blood they give to the blood bank. The North Columbiana Chapter's quota is 125 pints per visit.

Pointing out the necessity to meet the quota, Raymond said, "Chapters not meeting their quota are given free blood only after successful chapters have been supplied."

The Bloodmobile makes six visits a year to Salem and two each to East Palestine, Columbiana and Lisbon. Lisbon is the only community meeting its quota in the last quarter, collecting 135 pints in March.

The Eagles Lodge will sponsor the canteen this trip, with the food for the donors and the staff meal also being provided by the lodge.

Doctors on the scene will be G. A. Roese, E. P. Schaefer and C. J. Lehwald.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile will be Aug. 6. Other visits are scheduled for Oct. 20 and Dec. 11.

Red China pressed anew for a conference of the 14 nations which participated in the 1962 Geneva agreement on Laos, but rejected Britain's call — which Souvanna Phouma's conditions for such a conference were preposterous.

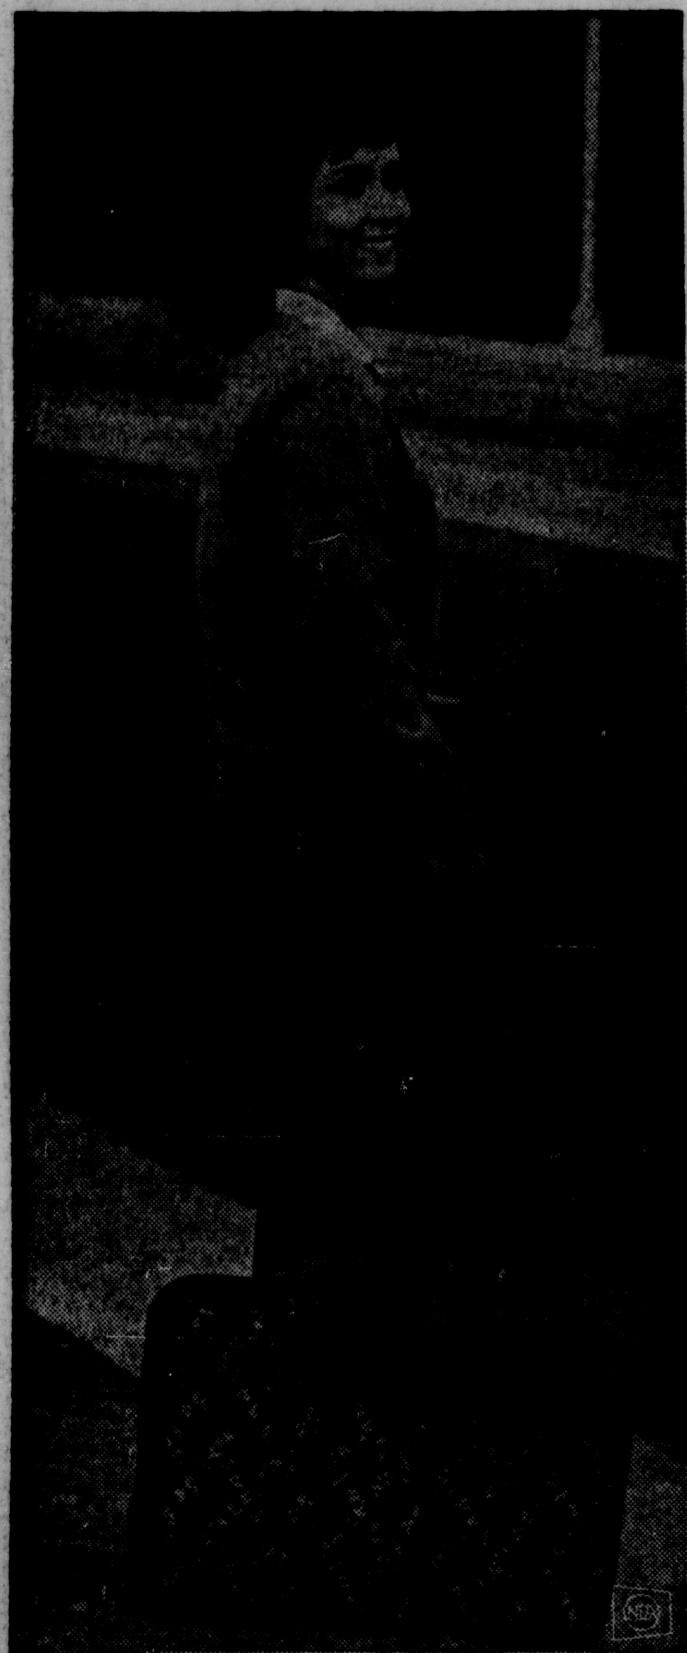

"The crisis has passed the stage where it can be settled by ambassadors' consultations," the official People's Daily declared in a dispatch broadcast by Radio Peking.

The Communist powers want another full-dress conference in Geneva. The People's Daily said neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's conditions for such a conference were preposterous.

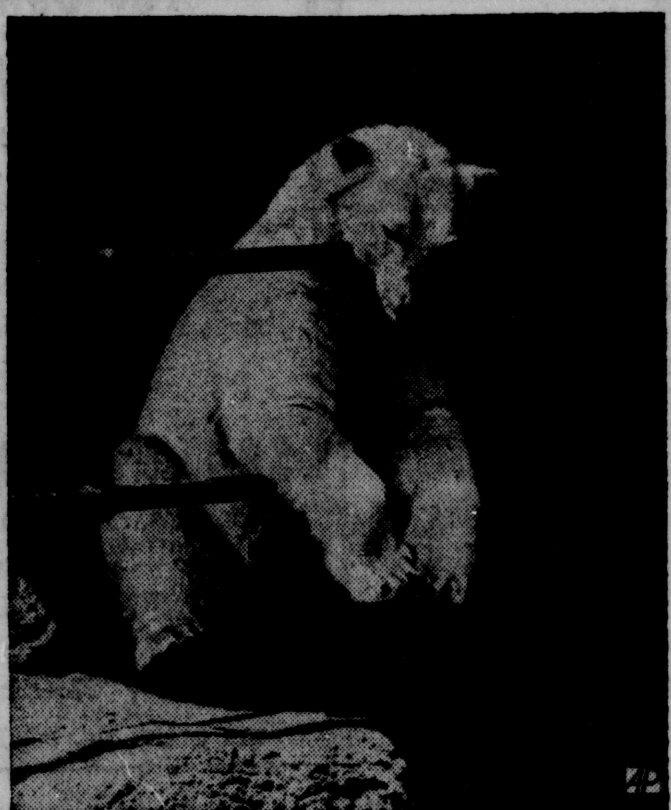

The conditions, endorsed by Britain and the United States Thursday, include an effective cease-fire, withdrawal of the Pathet Lao from their newly won positions and a strengthening of the powers of the coalition government, particularly those of the premier.

The Laotian crisis is coming under review by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and officials of Thailand, a pro-Western neighbor of Laos, at a meeting Saturday in Bangkok.

Rusk planned to fly to Bangkok from New Delhi, India, where he attended the funeral of Prime Minister Nehru. Then he will fly to Hawaii for a Honolulu conference of top American diplomatic and military officials on the Southeast Asia situation beginning Monday.

HOT PROPERTY — This is Cella Kaye, headed, at 21, for movie stardom via Universal pictures. She's pretty "in a church-going way," brainy, hates parties—not at all the type to which the term, "Hollywood starlet" usually is applied. Cella will be seen in "Island of the Blue Dolphins," "Daffy" and "Fanny."

250,000 Expected To View Indianapolis 500 Today

Jimmy Clark Is Favored

33 Drivers Entered In Racing Classic

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A half-million dollar purse and a battle for racing survival by the old-fashioned, front-engine roadsters await 33 drivers in the 46th Indianapolis 500-mile auto race today.

An expected 250,000—a mass blending of racing buffs, morbidly curious and Memorial Day picnickers—may see the famed race's first foreign winner in 48 years, first rear-engine triumph in history, and a speedway record for the sixth straight year.

Generally favored is Scotland's Jimmy Clark, world road racing champion and the record breaking qualifier in one of seven rear-engined Ford entries. Clark won the pole position with a four-lap 158.828 miles per hour over the 2½-mile asphalt oval.

In a surprising vote Friday, writers and broadcasters established Bobby Marshman of Pottstown, Pa., as the favorite.

Fourteen voted for Marshman and 10 votes went to Clark. Others getting votes were Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, 9; A. J. Foyt, Houston, 7; Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., last year's winner, 4; Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif., 3 and Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., 1.

The Ford-powered contenders along with five other rear-engined mounts, will challenge 18 front-engine Offenhausers — the conventional four-cylinder roadster, which is seeking an 18th successive speedway victory.

Chances are track owner Tony Hulman's fabulous weather luck will hold out when he intones, "Gentlemen, start your engines," around 11 a.m. EST. Sunny skies and temperatures in the mid-70s are forecast. Only once, in 1915, did rain postpone the big Indy.

Jones is the standard-bearer of the old Offy Guard, driving on the inside of the second of the 11 three-car rows in the same Watson roadster he won with a year ago.

All three first-row cars are rear-engined, with Clark's sleek green Lotus-Ford on the inside; Marshman next, also in a Lotus-Ford; and two-time champion Ward outside in a Watson-Ford.

The other returning champions are Foyt, driving a Watson-Offy in the middle of the second row, and Troy Ruttman, youngest winner in 1952 at the age of 22, starting 18th in another Offy roadster.

Ward, winner in 1959 and 1962 will be making his 14th start at the age of 43. There are seven first-time starters.

This could be an oily event. Cars came apart consistently and 12 accidents were recorded during the practice and time trial runs—accentuating the showdown of horsepower and styling this year.

Last driver to die in the race was Pat O'Connor, involved in a 15-car first-lap pile-up in 1958. Of 54 deaths, including pre-500 race fatalities of 1909-10, the toll includes 30 drivers, 14 mechanics, nine spectators and one Speedway guard.

Last year's cash payoff totaled $493,530, with $148,513 going to Jones.

A nationwide, closed-circuit televising of the race has been arranged for about 175 theaters and arenas—expected to attract about 300,000 viewers.

Vikings Get Dean From Eagles In Six Player Trade

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, MINN.—(AP)—The Minnesota Vikings acquired fullback Ted Dean from the Philadelphia Eagles Friday in a National Football League trade involving six players.

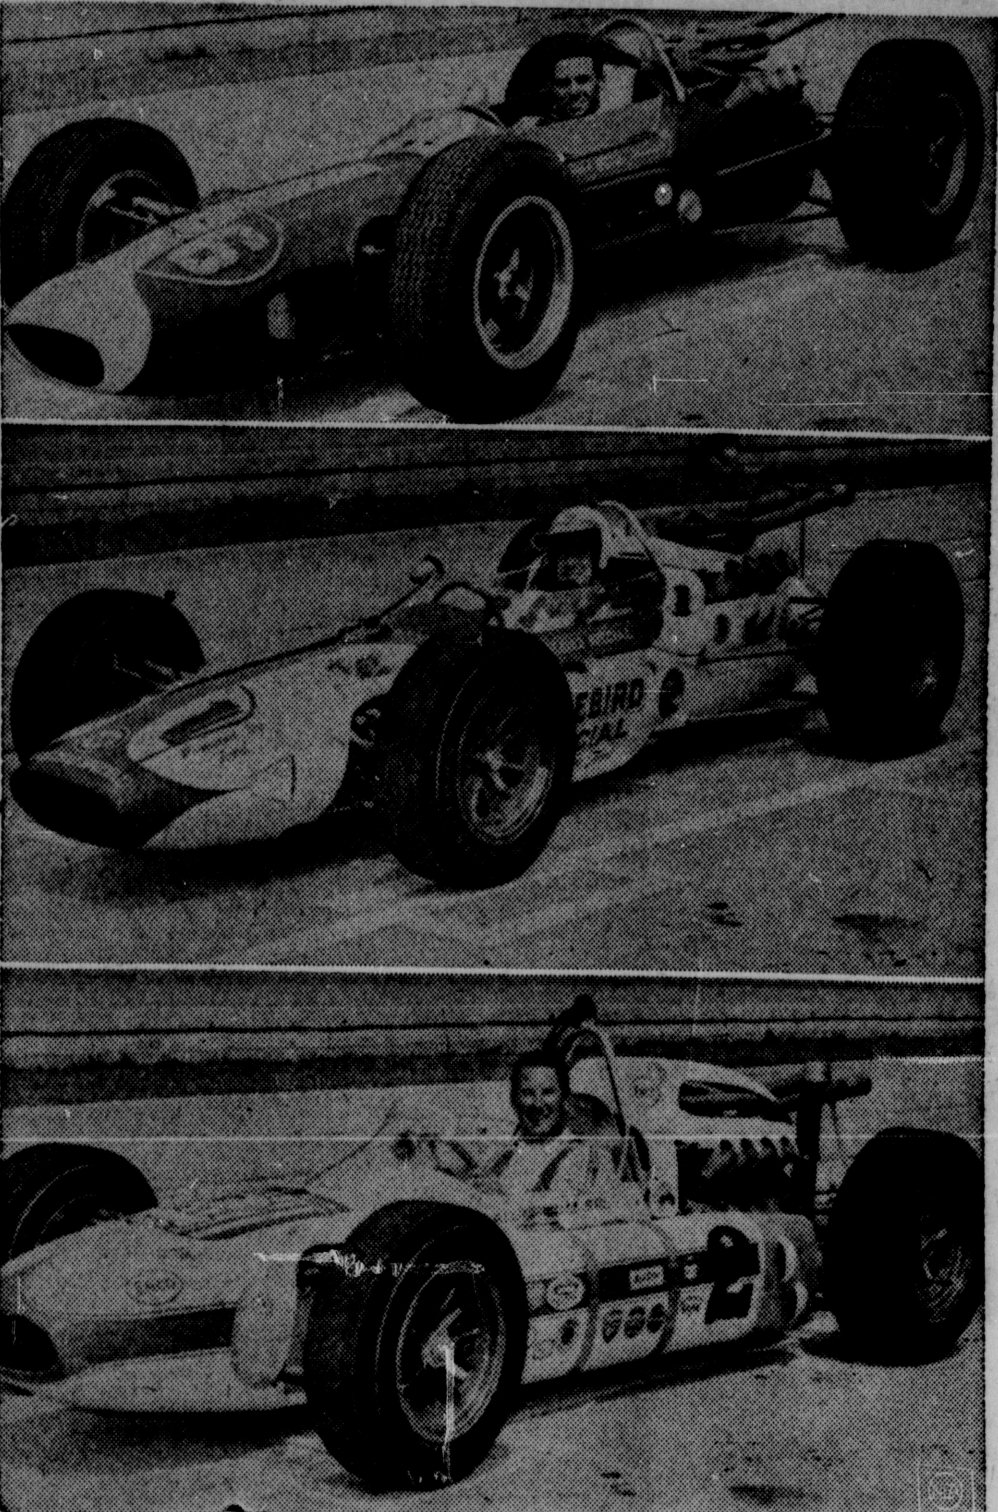

Besides Dean, the Vikings received rights to quarterback Bob Berry of Oregon University, a future drafted 11th by the Eagles last December.

In exchange, the Vikings sent receiver Ray Poage, defensive end Don Hultz and defensive backs Chuck Lamson and Terry Kosens to the Eagles.

Dean, Poage and Hultz were the key men in the deal.

BIG FRONT ROW—The cars to beat in the Indianapolis 500 auto race all sit on the front row. Qualifying speeds determine the position in the line-up at the start. All three are the new, light, Ford-powered, rear-engined racers which require fewer pit stops. Jim Clark (top) took the pole position with a speed of 158.828 miles an hour. Bobby Marshman (center) was next with a 158.562 average. Rodger Ward (bottom) qualified at 156.406.

Charity To Be Big Winner

Duffers 'Duel' Boros, Nicklaus In Par Match

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Amateur golfers all over America get their chance today to beat two of the nation's outstanding pros on National Golf Day.

The challengers, including the par shooters and the hackers, will match shots with PGA champion Jack Nicklaus and open tiddler Julius Boros.

Nicklaus leading money winner on the pro circuit, and Boros will play their 18-hole round Monday in an exhibition match at the Columbus Country Club, scene of the 1964 PGA Tournament in July.

The challengers can compete

Olympic Flag-Raisings, May Be Halted

TOKYO (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Friday sentiment in the committee is growing for the elimination of national anthems and flag-raising at the games.

Replying to a question following a luncheon at the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan, Brundage said that this was a pet project of his aimed at eliminating national rivalries and jealousies.

He said he had once won a majority vote to drop national anthems but had failed to get the required two-thirds.

Here to inspect the sites and observe preparations for the Tokyo Olympics in October, the American sports leader said the committee is plagued by the problem of politics as the games grow bigger and bigger.

ROBERTS STILL SERIOUS

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Glenn (Fireball) Roberts is off the critical list but still remains in serious condition from burns he suffered last Sunday in a three-car wreck during the world 600-mile stock car race.

Doctors at Memorial hospital said Friday they were pleased with the progress the popular race driver was showing.

Pro Gridder Missing After Work Mishap

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) —

Scores of rescue workers, many of them Montana State University students, searched the murky waters of the Clark Fork River Friday for Terry Dillon, rookie defensive back for the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League last season.

Dillon, 23, was working on a bridge construction project 25 miles west of Missoula Thursday, when, authorities said, part of the temporary decking gave way and he fell 50 feet into the swift-running stream.

Witnesses said Dillon started swimming for shore, fighting the current, but disappeared after traveling about 200 yards. A piece of bridge decking and a man's boot were later found four miles downstream, searchers reported.

Dillon was operating a motorized concrete carrier on the bridge site.

He was a safetyman for the Vikings. Previously he had starred at Montana State University.

Richardson To Quit Yankees For More Active Church Life

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — This is the kind of guy Bobby Richardson is. His big thrill last year with the New York Yankees was supplied by Mickey Mantle on a Saturday afternoon in Minneapolis.

"Can I," asked Mickey, "go to church with you in the morning?"

Baseball is about to pass out of the pattern of Bobby's life. In the timetable set up by the second baseman of the Yankees, he will quit the game within two years.

"By then," he said, "I should have something else."

Something else is a church-connected job which will pay him from $6,000 to $8,000 a year or, as he admits, "about a fifth of what I get for playing baseball." It should be in Sumter, S.C., because that's where he's from and where he has his home paid for.

"Something else" also means no more 17-day road trips away from Betsy and the four kids—ranging in age from six years to three months. Robby, the oldest, is still in Sumter attending first grade and going fishing because his daddy didn't want to disturb him.

It also means a devout, natural life unexposed to the sometimes profane elements that are part of his baseball existence.

"I'm no crusader," stressed Bobby, "but I found out that if you take a stand early, people respect you for it. I notice the guys try to keep from using profanity when they're around me."

There is one member of the Yankee entourage who sits in the back of the bus and cusses habitually. Bobby always makes sure he sits up front.

"Around second base," he continued, "I have no trouble. Tony Kubek (Yankee shortstop) doesn't use profanity either. Profanity to me indicates a lack of vocabulary."

"Maybe it's not good, but I find I'm able to hold things in."

An observation was made that he seems to be a placid person.

"Placid?" asked Bobby simply. "What does the word mean?"

HE SAT IN THE SUN on a rare day off in the tailored backyard of the imposing, dark-shingled house on Orchard Place in suburban, manicured Ridgewood, N. J. The Richardsons rent it for the summer. It has more bedrooms, five, than they can use. So visiting them were two women missionaries back from 29 years in the African Sudan.

Bobby made a missionary trip for the Texas Baptist Church to Japan and Formosa last winter. When he is traveling with the Yankees, he works on his correspondence course from Moody Bible College and catches up on "Christian authors I think I should read."

Cherry Hill, N.J. (AP)—Roy Sturges' Mr. Brick tries to prove he has stamina as well as speed today in the Jersey Derby, a race rapidly becoming known as a spawning ground for Belmont Stakes winners.

Three of the last four Belmont winners have warmed up for the third jewel in the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds by running in the $125,300 Jersey at Garden State Park.

On form, there doesn't appear to be a horse in the 1½-mile Jersey who can threaten Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Northern Dancer in the Belmont June 6. But form has been known to take a beating in the 1½-mile Belmont.

Mr. Brick, with Bob Ussery up, has been installed the 2-1 favorite in the field of eight, each carrying 126 pounds. The favorite, however, never has won at more than a mile. He'll have to prove he can go a route to earn the $81,44 due the winner if all eight go.

With the even money choice, The Scoundrel, declared out of the race earlier this week because of a leg injury, most experts describe the race as wide open with Harbor View's Roman Brother, fourth in the Kentucky Derby and fifth in the Preakness; W. H. Perry's Knightly Manner and Calumet Farm's Ky. Pioneer stout contenders.

Eight events were held in skin diving and scuba diving. The two local men teamed with a diver from Toledo and another from Cleveland to take a first place in the four-man event.

Washam teamed with a driver from Cleveland in the two-man event.

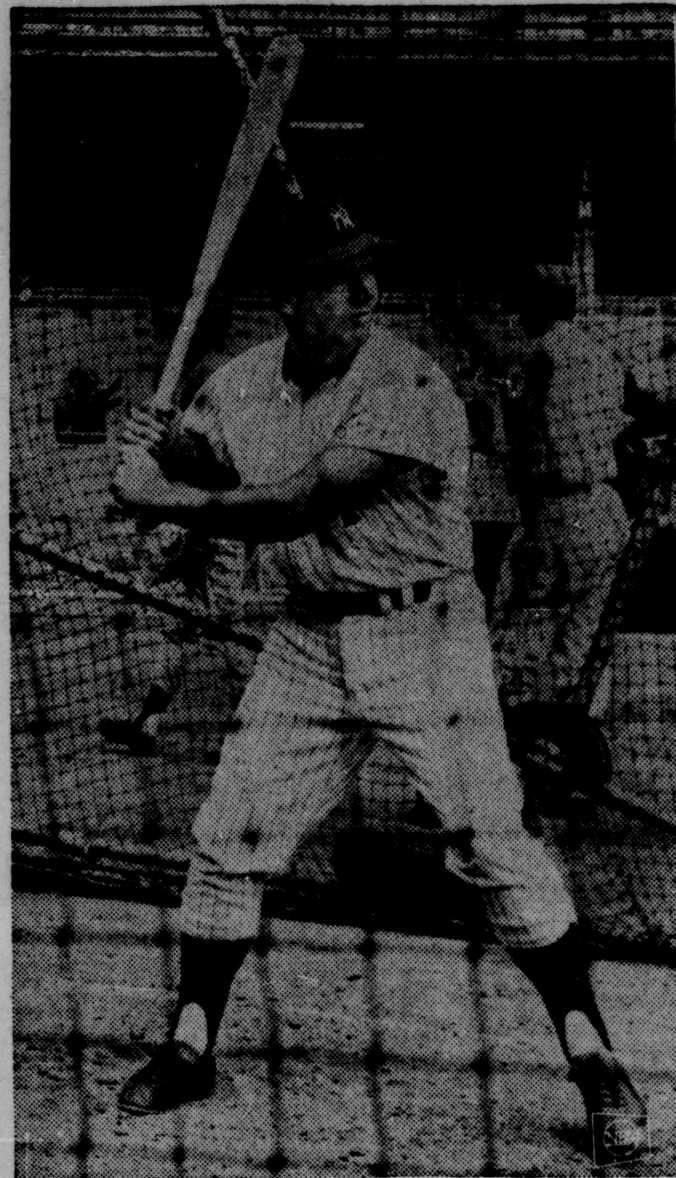

He then went on to place first twice and third once in the individual competition. For compiling the most points in the competitive games, he was awarded a special "diver of the day" trophy.

He also is leading in points for the "diver of the year" trophy, which will be awarded at the end of the year by the Ohio council of skin and scuba divers.

Berger and Washam are members of the Neptune Diving Club which will sponsor the next competition at Little Rock Lake near Glenmoor in the near future.

GIANTS PAGAN INJURED
NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Pagan, San Francisco Giants shortstop, suffered a strained rib muscle in his left side Thursday night and will be out of action for a few days.

Pagan suffered the injury while swinging at a pitch in Thursday's game at St. Louis.

Braves Trim Chicago 6-5

Winners Score All Runs In 2nd Inning

CHICAGO (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves routed veteran Glen Hobbie and scored six runs in the second inning Friday and rode to a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the season's first game between the two teams.

Billy Williams had a perfect day at bat with his 12th home run, three singles and a walk, boosting his league-leading batting average to .414. The home run came in the ninth inning when a Cub surge fell a run short.

Gene Oliver touched off the Milwaukee spree with a first pitch homer.

Before Wayne Schurr could rescue the winless Hobbie, who suffered his third straight loss, Frank Bolling singled for another run and Lee Maye stroked a bases-loaded double. Maye took third on outfielder Lou Brock's error and scored the sixth run on Schurr's wild pitch.

Denny Lemaster, posting his sixth win—his first ever over the Cubs after four straight career losses—yielded six hits before his removal in the seventh.

The Cubs collected 11 hits off Lemaster and Billy Hoef, who took over in the seventh.

TORRE TO JOIN CLUB

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Catcher-first baseman Joe Torre of the Milwaukee Braves was ordered by a physician Friday to take at least one more day of rest before rejoining the club in Chicago.

Torre, who suffered a cut in the tonsil area inside the throat while chewing a lozenge, missed his first game of the season Thursday. He is the club's leading hitter.

Hunneke Is Medalist In Valley Tourney

Jane Hunneke of Youngstown took medalist honors with a 49 in the women's tournament this week held at Valley Golf Course in Columbiana.

Rae Cope of Columbiana shot low net 30. Other Columbiana golfers winning events were Mary Bookwalter, closest to the pin on No. 2 hole; and Helen Coughlin, low putts on odd holes.

Florie Hubert made the longest putt on No. 9 green. Annis Queen and Louise Metz tied for 49 honors with the longest drives on No. 5.

In the women's best ball event Ferne Bertelsen and Jane Hunneke tied with the team of Louise Metz and Betty Maurer for first place.

BIRTHS
At the cathedral, the Most Rev. Phillip Hannan, auxiliary bishop of Washington, eulogized the slain president as one who was able "within horizons as wide as humanity itself, to touch every individual."

The bishop said Kennedy "typified the dignity of man in terms all men could understand and admire."

Bishop Hannan was the priest who at Kennedy's funeral Mass last Nov. 25 read from the pulpit parts of his inaugural address as well as Biblical quotations Kennedy used in various speeches.

The memorial Mass, held on what would have been Kennedy's 47th birthday, was attended by members of the diplomatic corps and other worshippers who nearly filled the picturesque pews of the historic church.

Mrs. Kennedy veiled and wearing a black tailored suit, entered and walked to a front pew with Caroline and her brother - in - law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and his wife. The Robert Kennedys' children also were there.

Jackie Attends Memorial Mass For Slain Husband

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, with Caroline, 6, beside her, attended a Roman Catholic high memorial Mass for her husband Friday at St. Matthews cathedral, where six months ago his funeral Mass was said.

Then they picked up John Jr., 3, and went across the Potomac River for a birthday visit to Kennedy's grave at Arlington National Cemetery. They knelt there briefly. And Mrs. Kennedy placed a small bouquet of white flowers on the grave.

At the cathedral, the Most Rev. Phillip Hannan, auxiliary bishop of Washington, eulogized the slain president as one who was able "within horizons as wide as humanity itself, to touch every individual."

The bishop said Kennedy "typified the dignity of man in terms all men could understand and admire."

Bishop Hannan was the priest who at Kennedy's funeral Mass last Nov. 25 read from the pulpit parts of his inaugural address as well as Biblical quotations Kennedy used in various speeches.

The memorial Mass, held on what would have been Kennedy's 47th birthday, was attended by members of the diplomatic corps and other worshippers who nearly filled the picturesque pews of the historic church.

Mrs. Kennedy veiled and wearing a black tailored suit, entered and walked to a front pew with Caroline and her brother - in - law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and his wife. The Robert Kennedys' children also were there.

Baccalaureate Mass
At St. Paul's Sunday
High school graduate members of St. Paul's Catholic Church are to assemble at the St. Paul's school Sunday at 8:30 a.m. in cap and gown and to attend baccalaureate services.

The students will march in a body from the school to the church to attend the 9 a. m. Mass.

After the service breakfast will be served them in the school auditorium.

PROJECT PLANNED
LISBON — A project on "Reed Flower and Bird Cages" will be presented at a meeting of the Franklin Township Home Demonstration Group Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ann Tepsic. Members are asked to bring a cover-dish and table service.

BEN CASEY

A word from THERON at the Country Store

The other day I went to lift an object off my little trailer which I pull behind my Jeep. When I did it something cracked in my back and I have been very uncomfortable ever since.

When I used to work in the foundry some years ago as a moulder, I had trouble with my back every once in a while. I have been trying to get my articles written for two days now but before I can get one finished I have to get up and move around.

Remember we will be open all day on Memorial Day.

SMART SALEMITES
have found a new, wonderful way to spend an evening that is all the rage . . . It is called . . . "The Movies."
For two or three hours while the movie is in progress, nobody can talk to you about Cuba, Viet Nam, Foreign Aid or the Civil Rights Bill. There are no interruptions such as soap commercials, deodorants, toothpaste, beer commercials, cigarette filters, sprays or mountain climbing automobiles. The "movie circuit" is replacing the "cocktail circuit." I am listing in consecutive order beginning with the current attractions, MUSCLE BEACH PARTY and SUMMER HOLIDAY, five straight weeks of top entertainment that will enhance the movie habit. They are, in order: THE NUTTY PROFESSOR and DONOVAN'S REEF, HUD and LILIES OF THE FIELD, ADVANCE TO THE REAR and KISSIN' COUSINS, FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE and THE CARETAKERS, HEY THERE, IT'S YOGI BEAR and QUICK GUN THE BEST MAN and CONVICTS FOUR. They will be followed by other big pictures now in the process of release, including TOM JONES. All on a giant screen —
